

Homework 10/18/18

Who am I and what motivates me:

My mother found out when she was pregnant while she was a senior in high school. She was only 18 years old and had plans to attend CSUN in the fall. I was due in November so she had to wait until the following year to attend CSUN. When I was 5 my mother had my sister, and her relationship with my father became very abusive. My father had gone to prison for domestic violence and we did not see him for years. About a year after my sister was born my mother got hired by LAPD as a clerk typist. My mom was only about 23 when she started working for LAPD, she was so determined to provide for my sister and I. She worked 6 days a week and provided us with everything we needed and wanted. After about 10 years with LAPD she transferred to LADWP which gave her the opportunity to send me to a private high school. She recently took a promotion which relocated her to Bishop, CA. My mother's ambition and endurance has inspired me and motivates me every single day to do better for myself and to provide for myself. Being so close in age with my mother is truly a blessing, I was raised by my best friend.

What I stand for:

I stand for honesty, integrity, and knowledge.

How do I like to spend my time and what I do best:

I love challenging myself and spending time with friends and family. Growing up and watching my mom constantly climbing her way to the top in her workplace and helping everyone around her truly inspired me. I am constantly trying to find ways to work smarter and to help improve others around me. I have never been a good student and as soon as I graduated high school I started working full time, which is where I found my passion. I love working in a team environment and I love strategizing in an office environment.
